

It is an outrage that the NAB is trying to make traffic, weather, and emergency information inaccessible via XM Radio. I pay for the service, which is more reliable and consistent than traditional radio and television. With all that is going on in this country, it is unthinkable that there is an action group out there trying to restrict and eliminate a reliable channel of information dissemination. Since I pay for the service, who the hell are they to dictate what I can and cannot listen to??
